

Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Monday 01 Nov 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:

Blustery showers, easing later. Drier with light winds overnight. Cold.

Today:

Windy, with blustery showers and gales possible across the hills. After a cloudy start sunny spells are likely between showers, although feeling rather cold, especially in the brisk winds. Showers becoming mainly confined to western parts by the evening. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Tonight:

Mostly dry overnight, although a few showers still possible across the Pennines. Clear skies developing for most, with winds easing. Cold, with fog patches and localised frost possible by dawn. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Tuesday:

Any early fog patches clearing, with sunny periods following for most. Most parts staying dry, although the odd afternoon shower developing. Light winds, but feeling rather cool. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:

Bright or sunny spells but also showers Wednesday and Thursday, especially on coasts. Cold especially in brisk winds, with coastal gales possible. Likely drier but cloudy Friday, and still breezy.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.